About Initiator Pharma and the rights issue

Initiator Pharma is a Danish pharmaceutical company originally spun out from Saniona AB. The company’s main focus is the pharmaceutical candidate IPED2015, which constitutes a new treatment for the indication of erectile dysfunction (ED) – the inability of a man to achieve and maintain an erection and thus be able to complete sexual intercourse. The company intends to initiate comprehensive studies and continue with further development of IPED2015, and therefore conducts a rights issue in connection with its planned listing on AktieTorget. The reason for the rights issue is to finance the activities of the implementation of the first phases of these studies. The offer encompasses up to 3,721,689 new issued shares at a subscription price of SEK 5.50 per share, corresponding to approximately SEK 20.5 million.

A comment from Claus Elsborg Olesen, CEO of Initiator Pharma

“In my opinion, there are several good reasons why Initiator Pharma will succeed. Firstly, we have a drug candidate that already, in early preclinical tests, has shown good results regarding both effect and absence of side effects. Furthermore, we have a competent team of scientists with world-leading expertise regarding both the working mechanisms of our drug candidate and research on erectile dysfunction. Foremost, it is the combination of our strong drug candidate and the competent research team with good prospects of successful development of IPED2015 that is Initiator Pharma’s primary strength. Another advantage for us is that there is currently a large demand for a new drug candidate for the treatment of ED and this provides us with good conditions for a successful financial development of Initiator Pharma. Our main goal is to develop IPED2015 until a clinical phase II trial to obtain Proof-of-Concept is successfully completed. The rights issue of approximately SEK 20.5 million that we are now conducting is primarily intended to fund the initial parts of this development, which includes initiating the regulatory process concerning toxicology of the drug candidate and completing the pharmacological work.”
